Masterthesis on Supervision-Subjects

The postgraduate course „Supervision & Coaching“ at the Danube-University Krems (Austria) is theoretically based in the Integrative Theory. The course was established in 2000, since then 76 persons within 8 courses have published 61 master thesis and 15 academic project works and completed their studies since now. The research has been conducted by qualitative and quantitative methods and shows a broad range of perspectives in different fields of supervision as psychiatry, school or the crisis line.

The university offers research coaching and research colloquies as a scientific support program (live and virtual) to ensure the quality of the masterthesis. There are also workshops in summer and winter-semester where students can work on their scientific writing tasks and research skills.
